

ENDORSEMENT

My web page was originally developed using Microsoft Front Page in 1998. The choice was based on simple conversion from text to web and that allowed me to learn, process, and advance the page as required. Recently I became a very old and out-of-date client of my web page hosting service which encouraged a web page rebuild.

Only five minutes of reviewing Microsoft Expressions convinced me I did not want to learn "all of that" for a single event which would unlikely be repeated.

I started searching for a professional web designer who could execute the transformation, especially since there were relatively few additions, just converting from the old Front Page version to the new Expressions version.

I selected Dorene as she stated her experience in doing exactly what I needed.

With little fanfare she acquired the current web page from my hosting service, prepared an example format and layout, and "away we went". The job was completed quickly and without any issues, at least, in part, because I just agreed with her suggestions, not quite, but almost, without discussion. The new web page is user friendly (to me) and that was the objective.

Dorene was a good and proper choice and I would endorse her without reservation.
